

in this issue:

Comment	3
Travel advisories make for an uneven playing field
Markets
The German city-break market	4
Big increase in potential for city breaks
Demand boosted by low-cost flights
US travel to European cities	5
Another year of sharp declines
Profiles
Paris	6
Has the French capital overtaken London?
Disneyland Paris is targeting 16-17 million visitors a year
Paris hotels hit hardest by the drop in demand for business travel
Cardiff	8
Aiming for international acclaim
Huge increase in the potential for tourism ...
... despite an unsuccessful bid to be Europe's Capital of Culture
Toronto	13
From bad to worse
Counting the cost of SARS
It is time for a new image
Singapore	15
Investing US$116 million in its tourism recovery
Prospects were starting to look up at end-2002 ...
... but Q1 2003 results reflect the start of a renewed decline
Comparative Trends
US city tourism rankings	18
Statistics: better late than never
Big pressure on city and state tourism budgets
German airports	20
Declines in international traffic in 2002
Low-cost airlines boost first quarter 2003 results
City statistics	21
Mixed results across Europe, but declines for most capital cities
Budapest enjoys longest average length of stay	