

in this issue:

Comment
Is Athens suffering from a case of 'big event blues'?		3
Markets
China		4
A market offering huge returns on investment
Profiles
Zurich		6
Hoping for better times ahead, but the competition is tough US primarily to blame for second year of decline
Liverpool		7
A new era of prosperity ahead – thanks in no small part to tourism Growth of short-break markets linked to new low-cost airline capacity The Beatles and football are the traditional tourism draws
Prague		12
A much better year – at least for international tourism Growth in airline capacity set to boost demand Increasing confidence among Prague's key tourism players
Hong Kong		14
Impact of SARS less significant than feared ... ... and first four months of 2004 point to strong market recovery Airport Authority confident it can fend off growing competition
Comparative Trends
European capital cities		17
A different perspective on the traditional favourites' ranking Paris depends more on Europeans than London and Rome City breaks appear to be losing popularity among Europeans
Asia Pacific cities		20
Electronic roomnight bookings rose 26% for Asia Pacific in Q1
Resort destinations		21
Resort hotels worldwide outperform their city-centre counterparts Impact of weak economies and exchange rate fluctuations Red Sea and Caribbean resorts record best revpar growth
City statistics		23
Plans for an online database		