

in this issue:

Comment	3
Decline in demand for the USA exacerbated by its lack of an NTO and unwise political moves in the name of security
Markets	4
UK outbound	4
Short-haul travel, and particularly short breaks, drive current growth but prospects for long-haul travel are good Only a modest decline in winter 2001/02 package tour sales
European self-catering	6
Cendant's astute acquisitions The sector's importance is underrated Huge growth potential across Europe
Arabian Gulf outbound	9
Increased demand for Middle East destinations USA still largely off the list Profile of Arabian Gulf travellers
South Korea outbound	11
One of the world's fastest-growing markets Huge rise in credit/charge card spending abroad Leisure travel rising most rapidly
Corporate travel	14
Most business travellers expect return to normal by mid-2003 Low-cost carriers do not suit everyone, but most want lower airfares
Destinations	16
Europe's Nordic countries	16
Looking for a second year of growth in 2002 Nordic countries generate over 40% of total overnights Expecting a record summer
Tour Operators	19
Kuoni Travel	19
Swiss tour operators	21
Comparative Trends	23
World airports	23