

in this issue:

Comment	3
"Lies, damned lies and statistics"	4
Special Report
Global travel forecasting	5
International receipts and arrivals recorded growth in 2002 ...
... and WTO projects further growth in arrivals for 2003
Global Insight, in contrast, expects declines
Markets
France outbound	8
Disappointing start to 2003 after good growth in 2002
Short breaks grow at the expense of longer leisure trips
2002 was not a profitable year for package tour sales
USA outbound	13
2003 will be the third year of decline ...
... but Americans are still the biggest spenders on travel abroad
Medium- to longer-term prospects are bullish
The German health holiday market	16
Prevention is better than cure
Predominantly a domestic market, but foreign destinations are gaining
Growth in demand attracts generalist operators to the market
Destinations
China	21
The full impact of SARS is still impossible to assess ...
... but most current short-term forecasts appear unduly pessimistic
Greater losses from domestic than international tourism
The heavy dependence on expatriate Chinese continues
Comparative Trends
World airport traffic	26