

in this issue:

Comment	3
Counting the cost of the Indian Ocean tsunami
Markets
Global tourism spending	4
Healthy growth in total spending, but spend per trip is more modest
European outbound	6
The best year ever
Southern European markets show their potential
Netherlands outbound	8
A stable market
Short breaks performing better than long holidays
Korean outbound	12
Back to solid growth – in terms of trips and spending
Growth in sun & beach holidays expected ...
... as well as in independent (FIT) trips
India outbound	15
Market finally starts to realise its true potential
A growing number of foreign tour operators enter the Indian market
Air Transport
World airports	17
New records for 2004
Low-cost carriers in Asia	19
Enormous potential for route expansion
The rate of liberalisation will determine the speed and success of LCCs
Watch for India and China
Tour Operating/Retail Travel
German tour operators	22
Return to growth after two years of falling turnover and client numbers
Top three account for more than two-thirds of total industry turnover
Rebound in long-haul travel, but cruises generate the best growth
Destinations
Europe	24
A better performance than might be perceived at first glance
Leisure travel is driving the growth in demand
Greece and Portugal suffer from 'big event blues'	